Accredited members of the media may request a single-game media credential via fax at least 24 hours in advance of each game and by 5 p.m. Friday for all weekend and Monday games. Please confirm your request prior to arriving at the game. A request does not guarantee a credential. Credentials may be picked up beginning two hours prior to game time at the media entrance.

RESERVED MEDIA SEATING is available at the Scorer's Table as well as the boxes in section 217, 218, 219 and 220. A season or single-game credential does not guarantee a seat.

PHOTOGRAPHY will be allowed on each baseline for both still photographers and television cameras. All photo positions will be assigned, and photographers must sit at least four feet behind the baseline. Limited space is available. All photographers are required to wear a credential and those without one will not be allowed on the baseline. Rubber lens shades are required for all still photographers and broadcasters. Locker rooms re-open to the media after the game no later than 10 minutes following the conclusion of the game and remain open for 30 minutes. Following the 30-minute period, locker rooms close for a 20-30 minute period to allow players to shower and dress. If necessary, the locker rooms may re-open. Your cooperation and courtesy is asked in maintaining a proper working atmosphere for all interviews.

PRACTICES take place in the Kings/Monarchs Training Facility located East of the arena in Lot L. Monarchs practices are open to the media, however members of the media must watch practice from the Media Viewing Room (North side of facility) until 30 minutes are left in the session when they may go onto the court. # ARCO ARENA

The Sacramento Kings played their first basketball game at ARCO Arena on November 8, 1988 before a then-capacity crowd of 17,014. Fans have continued to flock to ARCO Arena, which seats 17,317 for Monarchs basketball.

Conveniently located near the intersection of I-5 and I-80, ARCO Arena is only five minutes from downtown Sacramento and 90 miles from the San Francisco Bay area.

There are approximately 3,900 trees and over 8,000 shrubs on the 105 acres surrounding ARCO Arena with parking for up to 11,000 vehicles in the fully-lighted parking lot. Among the amenities are concession stands, featuring 67 service lines, four lounges overlooking the arena interior, and eight locker rooms.

ARCO Arena contributes to the local economy by employing as many as 1,200 full- and part-time workers throughout each year.

One of the busiest buildings of its kind in the United States, ARCO Arena hosts nearly 200 events and two million spectators annually. The facility has been home to numerous premier concert events, including nine sellout shows by country music superstar, Garth Brooks, who has attracted over 144,000 fans to his ARCO Arena concerts. Other top acts that have played at ARCO Arena have included Eric Clapton, Pearl Jam, Elton John, N*Sync, Tina Turner, Britney Spears, U2 and the Rolling Stones.

GENERAL INFO

HARD-WORKING, CUSTOMER SERVICE-DRIVEN FAMILY TAKING MALOOF SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT TO THE UPPER ECHELON OF PROFESSIONAL SPORTS AND ENTERTAINMENT

In just four years, the Maloof family has guided the Sacramento Kings and Monarchs as well as ARCO Arena to unparalleled heights. Under Maloof Sports & Entertainment, the Kings and Monarchs have advanced to the NBA and WNBA Playoffs, respectively, and produced entertaining basketball that has been seen throughout the world.

Even more impressive than the company's competitive accomplishments has been Maloof Sports & Entertainment's significant impact within the community. The company has earmarked over $1 million annually in the way of charitable gifts and donations, including a minimum of $100,000 in proceeds from a selected Kings preseason game donated to local charities as a tribute to the family's late father and husband under the name of the George J. Maloof Senior Community Cup. In 1999-2000, the $100,000 gift was awarded to Sacramento's Airport Little League, allowing city officials to sod the field, build team dugouts and bleachers, and refurbish the overall look of the complex. In 2000-01, the contribution was presented to the Sacramento Unified School District to repair a building in downtown Sacramento to house Hemispheres, an after-school visual and performing arts academy. The 2001-02 donation allowed the Sacramento Asian Sports Foundation (SASP) Building Fund to bring a Community Cultural and Youth Sports Center to South Sacramento. And most recently, the 2002-03 partnership expanded facilities at the La Familia Counseling Center. The family's charitable efforts earned Joe and Gavin Maloof the Sports Humanitarian World Hall of Fame's Most Involved Executives award for 2001.

While Breast Health Awareness had been an important community initiative since the Monarchs inception in 1997, this community effort hit close to home with the diagnosis of Monarchs guard Edna Campbell in spring of 2002. Edna is the first active WNBA player to be diagnosed with breast cancer. Under the leadership of Joe and Gavin Maloof, the organization quickly took an expanded role in promoting early detection and recognizing breast cancer survivors in Sacramento. Through in-arena fundraising during the 2002 season, more than $15,000 was raised for the Sacramento affiliate of the Susan G. Komen Breast Cancer Foundation in Edna's name.

Striving toward the goal of providing complete customer and employee satisfaction, Maloof Sports & Entertainment heads into the 21st century with a vision as "a championship caliber team of people committed to the highest level of performance, service, quality, innovation, community involvement, and winning relationships."

"Our family lives by two Maloof business philosophies, cater to our customers and take care of our employees," states Joe Maloof. "We have a long-term commitment to our fans and employees that will make the entire Sacramento community proud to call this organization their own."

Maloof Sports & Entertainment continues to explore ways to enhance the quality of basketball played at ARCO Arena and in December of 2000 that vision became reality when the Kings and the Monarchs moved their basketball operations into a $9.1 million, 38,500 square foot training facility. The state-of-the-art structure, built adjacent to ARCO Arena, features two full size basketball courts, separate locker rooms and luxury offices for both teams, as well as the latest in training and rehabilitation amenities.

Celebrated Return to Professional Sports

The Maloof family's interest in purchasing the Kings, Monarchs, and ARCO Arena originated in 1997 when they contacted then-Managing General Partner Jim Thomas regarding the availability of the teams and arena. On January 14, 1998, the Maloofs completed the purchase of a minority-limited partnership in the organization's franchises and ARCO Arena. Although both the Kings and the Monarchs suffered through sub par seasons in 1997-98, the Maloofs continued their pursuit of primary ownership and on January 15, 1999, they subsequently purchased controlling interest, effective July 1, 1999. The NBA Board of Governors unanimously approved the ownership transfer on May 7, 1999, in New York, at which time the Board of Governors appointed Joe Maloof to the Board. The official closing of the ownership transaction took place on July 1, 1999.

Their purchase of the Kings returned the Maloofs to the NBA after a 17-year absence during which the family eagerly pursued an opportunity to rejoin the league. Owners of the Houston Rockets from 1979 through 1982, the Maloofs watched their Rockets rise to elite status, advancing to the NBA Finals for the first time in the team's history in 1981. Following the death of their father, George Maloof, Sr. in 1980, Joe and Gavin Maloof, who were only in their mid-20's at the time, took over responsibility of the Rockets along with their mother, Colleen, their two younger brothers, George, Jr. and Phil, and their sister, Adrienne. The added responsibilities of continuing the growth of the family business forced the Maloofs to sell the Rockets in 1982, but George Maloof's original passion for NBA basketball has remained within the family. In the fall of 2002, the Maloof's assumed ownership of the Monarchs of the WNBA, furthering their commitment to basketball and the Sacramento Community.

A 100-YEAR MODEL FOR DIVERSIFIED BUSINESS SUCCESS

Palms Casino Is Hottest New Property in Las Vegas

The Maloof Companies are a diversified group of business ventures including hotels, casinos, banking, food and beverage, and transportation headquartered in Albuquerque, New Mexico and operated in New Mexico, Colorado, and Nevada.

In 1994, the family made a $10 million investment in a small piece of property in North Las Vegas, building the quaint 30,000-square foot, 100-room Fiesta Casino Hotel. After a pair of expansive renovations, the 75,000-square foot Fiesta became one of the most profitable hotel casinos per square foot in the entire state of Nevada. In fact, in an August '99 edition of USA Today, the Fiesta Casino Hotel was voted one of the world's 10 greatest gambling destinations, ranking with the likes of the Bellagio and Caesars Palace in Las Vegas and the Trump Taj Mahal Casino Resort in Atlantic City.

In July of 2000, the Maloof family sold the operating interest in the Fiesta Hotel Casino for over $185 million. The family immediately re-invested the money into the construction of the Palms, a $285 million hotel casino just off the Las Vegas strip with a 42-story tower and 447 guestrooms. The Palms, which opened for business on November 15, 2001, features outstanding customer service, unique architecture, and award-winning restaurants, entertainment, nightlife, and amenities. In less than a year of operation, the Palms has become the hottest property in Las Vegas with thousands of visitors daily.

In addition to their gaming business, the Maloofs have exclusive proprietorship rights to the distribution of Coors Beer throughout New Mexico. The Maloof Companies also is the largest single shareholder in Wells Fargo Bank, which operates banks and branches in 23 states throughout the Western United States with over $200 billion in assets and 15 million customers.

Colleen Maloof serves as Chair of the Board of Directors of the Maloof Companies. Joe Maloof is president of the corporation and oversees the banking and sports and entertainment divisions, while Gavin Maloof is vice chairman, also leading the sports and entertainment daily operations. George Maloof, Jr., is an executive vice president and heads the hotel division, and Adrienne Maloof is the secretary/treasurer of the company. Phil Maloof is an executive vice president and a former New Mexico state senator.

The Maloof family history in the United States dates back to 1892 when Joe Maloof I opened a small general store in northern New Mexico. By the 1930s, the Maloof family acquired the distribution rights to Coors Beer and subsequently established Quality Imports, a wholesale fine liquor distribution center, in 1937. When Joe Maloof I, suffered a major heart attack in 1944, his son, George J. Maloof, left his studies at the University of Colorado to assume responsibility of the Maloof Companies at the age of 21.

George J. Maloof successfully expanded the family business into a group of diversified companies, moving into the hotel and banking sectors in the 1970s. In 1978, responding to his love for sports and competition, Maloof purchased the majority ownership of the Rockets. However, just two years later during the Rockets' rise to the upper echelon of the NBA, Maloof passed away at the age of 57. His wife, Colleen, assumed control of the entire Maloof operation and rather than selling off the company assets, she enlisted the assistance of her five children. Under Colleen Maloof, the family expanded their beer and liquor distribution operations and later opened their first gaming property in 1992. From 1990 to 1992 the family also owned the Birmingham Fire of the World League of American Football.

In the 100-plus years that have defined the Maloof Companies, customer service and a strong work ethic combined with energy and vision are the qualities that have built this one-time general store into a business model for diversified success. "From the days of my grandfather's general store to our entire operation now, the Maloof family business philosophy always has been centered around complete customer and employee satisfaction. In Sacramento, the fans are our customers and providing a great experience for them is our goal," says Gavin Maloof.

THE MALOOF FAMILY

JOE MALOOF

Joseph Maloof is President of the Maloof Companies. Joe's business expertise and leadership qualities have helped enhance and diversify the corporation's growth since his father's death in 1980.

Joe manages the Maloof Companies' nearly 3,500 employees with an open door policy, much like his father did nearly 30 years ago. He also believes in treating customers in a first-class manner and with the utmost respect, and is often seen talking and listening to the fans and customers of the various family businesses.

"My father's business philosophy of taking care of our customers and employees was successful long ago, and all of us in the family have chosen to manage with that same style," states Joe.

His extensive expertise in management, sales, and marketing has been invaluable during the company's expansion into banking, hotels, and gaming over the past 20 years. He currently serves on the Board of the Coors Distributor Council. In May of 1999, Commissioner David Stern appointed him to the NBA Board of Governors after the Maloof family was unanimously approved by the Board to assume controlling interest of the Kings.

Like all of his family, Joe's charitable efforts are an important aspect of his personal and professional life. He has assisted countless community service groups through the years, including the Boys Club, the University of New Mexico, the American GI Forum, the Airport Little League, and the League of Latin American Citizens, to name just a few.

He has a passion for competition, stemming from his days as a prep and collegiate athlete. He was MVP of his high school basketball team at Lawrenceville Prep School (Lawrenceville, N.J.), and was a two-time letterwinner as a defensive back at the University of New Mexico, where he graduated in 1979 with a degree in business.

Joe resides in Sacramento less than two miles from ARCO Arena. He enjoys working out and is an avid tennis player.

GAVIN MALOOF

As Vice Chairman of Maloof Companies, Gavin Maloof assists in all aspects of the family's diversified business ventures while overseeing the company's sports and entertainment operation. He is dedicated to maintaining and building the corporation's national and international prominence and spearheading a new era of growth for the company.

Although Gavin is relatively young in terms of professional sports and entertainment ownership, his experience is extensive. Following the death of his father, George J. Maloof, Sr., in 1980, Gavin was named president of the Houston Rockets at the age of 24, making him the youngest owner and operator in major professional sports history. The Rockets enjoyed immediate success under Gavin's leadership, advancing to the NBA Finals for the first time in franchise history in 1981. With the likes of Moses Malone, Calvin Murphy, and Elvin Hayes, the Rockets qualified for postseason play in all three seasons under the Maloof family ownership.

In addition to his front office management with the Rockets, Gavin also served as team president during the Maloof's tenure as owners of the Birmingham Fire of the World League of American Football (WLAFF) from 1990-92.

Gavin has always placed an importance on his community service work. Over the years he has served on the board of directors for several charitable causes, including those focusing on the well being of children.

An active sports fan and participant, Gavin was an outstanding football player at the New Mexico Military Institute in Roswell, N.M., and at Trinity University in San Antonio. He graduated from Trinity in 1979 with a speech and communications degree.

Gavin resides in Sacramento less than two miles from ARCO Arena. He enjoys playing golf in his spare time.

COLLEEN J. MALOOF

Chair of the Board, Maloof Companies
Trustee for the Estate of George J. Maloof

Colleen J. Maloof is chair of the board of the Maloof companies and trustee for the estate of George J. Maloof. Throughout the key years that George Maloof built the Maloof Companies into the largest group of family-owned enterprises in New Mexico, Colleen was an instrumental partner in their prosperity. Faced with the challenge of carrying on the family tradition of success after her husband's passing, she has grown the Maloof Companies as never before.

Colleen Maloof is a major force behind the family's continued strength and the Maloof's corporate and civic leadership. She is a leader in her community and has received a number of honors and awards, including the Associated Students of University of New Mexico Award for Dedication and Service, Mexican-American Foundation of America Women of the Year Award, and the Image de Albuquerque Award, which was presented to the Maloof family for their significant contributions to Hispanic business development.

Colleen has played a pivotal role in developing the "Maloof style" managerial skills of her children, Joe, Gavin, George Jr., Phil, and Adrienne. She has worked to ensure that company policies and practices remain true to the family motto, "The Customer is King."

GEORGE MALOOF

Adhering to his father's policy of learning the family business "from the ground up," George J. Maloof, Jr. has successfully established himself as an innovator in the hotel and gaming industries.

George is the leading force behind the building and operation of the hottest new property in Las Vegas, the Palms, which is owned by the Maloof family, and has become one of the most sought-after destinations in the entertainment capital of the world.

As President of Maloof Hotels since 1989, George has overseen the operation of hotels throughout the Southwest and California, including the Fiesta Casino Hotel in Las Vegas, the Central Palace Casino in Central City, Colorado, and the Palms.

George has very strong ties to the Las Vegas community. He is a UNLV alumnus, where he received his bachelor's degree in business administration (hotel management) in 1987, and was a standout on the football field, lettering two years as a cornerback for the Running Rebels football team.

In addition to his work in the gaming industry, George is also a member of the Patriarchal Order of the Holy Cross of Jerusalem and the Las Vegas Chapter of Legatus.

THE MALOOF FAMILY

ADRIENNE MALOOF-NASSIF

Whether it's marketing, fashion design, promotion, or politics, Adrienne Maloof-Nassif is involved in all aspects as well as the overall leadership of the Maloof Companies.

Adrienne's marketing and promotional contributions have been invaluable in the Sacramento Kings becoming one of the most recognizable franchises in all of professional sports. In addition, her lifelong interest in competitive professional dancing has allowed her to lend her expertise to the Kings widely popular Royal Court Dance Team.

Philanthropic work also is a personal passion for Adrienne. Because of her love and concern for animals and children, Adrienne has joined forces with the Sacramento SPCA to serve as an honorary spokesperson. Her financial contributions allowed the SPCA to complete a new shelter in February of 2002 and develop the Adrienne Maloof Camp Kindness program, which allows underprivileged youth to learn the proper care and handling of animals.

Growing up in Albuquerque, New Mexico, she was one of the country's top ranked junior tennis players and went on to play collegiate tennis at the University of New Mexico, where she earned a bachelor's degree in political science.

Adrienne, who resides in Los Angeles with her husband Paul, loves to spend time with her dog, Itty Bitty, and her adopted cats, Spanky and Lulu. She enjoys reading and working out. She and her husband are expecting their first child in June.

PHIL MALOOF

Phil Maloof is an executive vice president with Maloof Companies and a former senator for the state of New Mexico.

During his time in office, Phil was one of the youngest elected officials in the country, appointed to the New Mexico State Senate following the election of Mayor Martin Chavez, and subsequently re-elected to a full four-year term from his west Albuquerque district in 1996, before running for U.S. Congress in 2000.

Phil was known for his tough stance on crime while representing New Mexico, becoming the first state senator in the country to sponsor the Three Strikes, You're Out law, in addition to helping pass several bills aimed at improving school funding.

An outstanding all-around athlete, Phil played quarterback collegiately at New Mexico State, before earning his post-secondary degree from the University of New Mexico.

Phil currently lives in Las Vegas, where he works in all facets of the Maloof Companies, including the Sacramento Kings and the Palms hotel and casino property. He enjoys playing basketball and traveling in his spare time.

MONARCHS IN THE COMMUNITY

COMMUNITY SERVICES

The Sacramento Monarchs have the unique opportunity to inspire and empower both young girls and women to reach for their dreams. The team has created a number of outreach programs, primarily focused on literacy and breast health awareness, which will reach local youngsters and families in need and at risk and make a positive and meaningful difference in their lives.

MONARCHS READING TEAM CHALLENGE

This summer, the Monarchs will support reading through two important programs in the Sacramento region. Students may pick up a Monarchs "Reading Team Scorecard" at their local Kelly-Moore Paints, Mel Raption Honda, The Sacramento Bee, Sacramento Public Library or Monarchs home game. By recruiting a reading coach to initial their scorecard and recording their reading accomplishments over the summer, participants will earn great Monarchs prizes. Students will also have the opportunity to hear Monarchs players read to them at various locations throughout Sacramento.

For the second year, the Monarchs join the Sacramento Public Library in developing reading as a daily habit for over 15,000 Sacramento-area youth. Sacramento Monarchs player Ticha Penicheiro will appear in the "Read Around the World in 60 Days" summer reading packets along with other Monarchs resources. Monarchs players will also be appearing at local libraries to read their favorite children's books to local youth. Before the end of the summer, two students from each library branch will be recognized at the Monarchs "Reading Night" on Saturday, July 26 for their outstanding essays. The essay contest is one more example of how the Monarchs and Library support reading as an important initiative for the community.

Y.E.S. PROJECT

The "Youth! Education! Success!" Project partnered by Cingular will continue to support educators for the third year in a row. This innovative program, administered through the Sacramento City Unified School District and other local districts, will challenge students to complete a series of grade-specific reading comprehension assignments centered around the Monarchs and the WNBA. Students who complete their educational workbooks earn a great prize available to them at any Monarchs home game.

BREAST HEALTH AWARENESS

For the seventh consecutive year, the Monarchs will adopt Breast Health Awareness as a community initiative and designate the August 9th Monarchs vs. Lynx Game as Monarchs "Breast Health Awareness Night." Information will be distributed about important breast health information to all fans in attendance that evening. The game will also be marked by special breast cancer awareness t-shirts worn by the team players and the Hip Hop Crew. Pink ribbons will be distributed to fans and each person is encouraged to write messages for a breast cancer survivor they may know which will be posted on the concourse for viewing. The Monarchs and Sutter Home Winery will also be hosting a pregame reception for breast cancer survivors, providing survivors with a commemorative shirt and recognizing them at halftime.

Breast Health Awareness Night is in addition to the on going, year round presence the Monarchs have taken in the community in support of one of its own, Edna Campbell, along with the thousands affected by breast cancer. During the off-season, Edna spoke to thousands about the importance of early detection. Through the Sacramento Affiliate of the Susan G. Komen Foundation, Edna spoke to high school girls, attended numerous fundraisers, filmed a local PSA and attended Race for the Cure along with staff and teammates from the Sacramento Kings and Monarchs. The Monarchs will continue to build upon their fundraiser efforts towards this cause by once again selling a commemorative Breast Health Awareness pin honoring Edna with all proceeds benefiting the Komen Foundation.

For more information about the Monarchs community activities, please contact the Community Service department at 916-928-0000 or go to www.SacramentoMonarchs.com.

WNBA IN THE COMMUNITY

The WNBA connects with fans of all ages through extensive community outreach. As we mark the seventh season of the WNBA, our players continue to be recognized for their commitment and dedication to fans in cities across America. The WNBA has three primary community initiatives: WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit., WNBA Read to Achieve and Jr. NBA and Jr. WNBA presented by Gatorade and Nike. In addition to these initiatives, the WNBA honors players who are active in their communities with the WNBA Community Assist Award presented four times a year.

WNBA READ TO ACHIEVE

WNBA Read to Achieve is a year-round, league-wide initiative that promotes the value of reading and online literacy and encourages families and adults to read regularly with young children. Supported by Reading Is Fundamental and Scholastic, Inc., WNBA Read to Achieve promotes reading through in-arena events, public service announcements and school and community appearances throughout the year. WNBA players, coaches and family members also join members of the NBA family on local and national All-Star Reading Teams.

WNBA MIND. BODY. SPIRIT.

The WNBA Mind. Body. Spirit. program is the WNBA's primary cause-related campaign focusing on two main components — Healthy/Fit Families and Positive Self-Image and Breast Health Awareness. The WNBA tipped off the Mind. Body. Spirit. campaign at NBA All-Star in Atlanta with the WNBA Nothing But N.E.T. Challenge, which consisted of several challenges designed to educate and inform kids about the value of being active, eating well and developing a healthy and fit lifestyle.

The WNBA Breast Health Awareness program focuses on increasing public awareness about the importance of early detection of breast cancer and on raising funds to inform and educate women all over the country. Breast health information will be distributed to fans during in-arena awareness nights and a breast health awareness public service announcement will air on nationally televised games and in-arena. ## JERRY REYNOLDS

General Manager

Jerry Reynolds begins his sixth full season as the Monarchs general manager after accepting the position midway through the first WNBA season on July 28, 1997. In his position, Reynolds oversees all aspects of the Monarchs basketball operations department, including the coaching staff, scouting efforts, player acquisitions and team operations.

The continued success of the Monarchs and their three consecutive playoff appearances can largely be attributed to Reynolds, who uses his experience as the Kings director of player personnel to constantly improve the team. Through the WNBA Draft, Reynolds has been able to strengthen the core of the Monarchs organization with first-round draft choices such as Yolanda Griffith (1999, #2 overall) and Ticha Penicheiro (1998, #2 overall) and second-round selections Tangelia Smith (1998, #12 overall), Kedra Holland-Corn (1999, #14 overall) and Stacy Clinesmith (2000, 30th overall). Reynolds has also been a forerunner in trades, taking part in five of the first six trades in league history.

Having been with the Kings organization since it relocated from Kansas City in 1985, Reynolds is currently in his 18th season at ARCO Arena. Originally joining the club as an assistant coach responsible for advance pro and college scouting, in July of 1994 Reynolds was named director of player personnel after serving two seasons as the team's general manager. With the Kings, Reynolds is responsible for keeping abreast of both the professional and collegiate talent pools available to the team, while also overseeing the club's scouting efforts.

In addition to his duties as Kings director of player personnel, Reynolds is also a member of the Kings Broadcast Network talent team as a color analyst for all the club's televised contests. Reynolds has also been appointed to the USA Basketball Women's Senior National Team Committee for the 2001-04 quadrennium, where he will help select the USA Senior National Teams and the corresponding coaching staffs.

A native of French Lick, Indiana (where he is often referred to as the second most popular local, first being NBA legend Larry Bird), Reynolds has a unique understanding of the interaction among players, coaches, and the front office due in part to his experience gained through his varied roles with the Kings organization.

On two occasions Reynolds served as the Kings head coach following mid-season changes. In 1987 he was named, on an interim basis, to replace former head coach Phil Johnson. The following season he replaced Bill Russell with 24 games remaining, and stayed on as the club's head coach for the next two seasons. All told, Reynolds served as head coach of the Kings for a portion of four seasons (1987-1990) and accumulated a 56-114 (.330) record. He also served as the director of player personnel for two seasons (1990-92) before accepting the role as the club's general manager (5/92-12/93).

An extremely popular figure with both the Sacramento community and the national media, Reynolds is an often-requested favorite on the public speaking circuit. A graduate of Oakland City College (Indiana) in 1966, he received his master's degree in physical education from Indiana State University in 1970.

Reynolds and his wife Dodie reside in Roseville, California and have two children, Jay and Danielle.
